WHAT'S ON DUBAI

PROUDLY CELEBRATING 45 YEARS

Throwback to... 2013

IAN FAIRSERVICE
Managing Partner & Group Editor

When What's On began 45 years ago, my mission was clear: to create a platform that would champion the UAE's restaurants, events, and community happenings. But in line with the exponential growth across the emirates, the brand has become so much more than that. What's On is now an essential guide to experiencing the UAE. We're on-hand to help you navigate those early days when you're a newbie with our how-to guides. We've always got a recommendation for the best ladies' night, Saturday brunch, or date night spot when you're in need of a little inspiration. And we've got you covered as you move through the milestones in the city, with our top recommendations on where to celebrate your birthday, pop the question, or throw a baby shower. What remains as true now as it was when we first launched in 1979, is that What's On's superpower is its ability to remain at the forefront of this dynamic, ambitious, and ever-changing country.

That was put centre stage with our August 2013 issue, where we introduced readers to 'The New Dubai'. What was new 11 years ago? Paddleboarding, Claw BBQ, Jumeirah Village Triangle, IED Bross, and paddle, according to our cover feature. It's undeniable that everything in life goes through cycles, but that is especially true of Dubai. In the 46 years I've been here, the hottest spots, coolest neighbourhoods and star attractions have gone from evolving year-on-year, to sometimes month-by-month, and we've been here reporting on it every step of the way. In fact, our new monthly feature, What's On Trend, can be found on p50, spotlighting the names, places and faces to have on your radar right now.

PLUS LOOK GOOD FOR LESS, CRAB CLANS, THE ILLUSIONISTS, BOOBYHOPE, AUTUMN DIG GUIDE AND THE UAE'S BEST SPES

Registrations are now open for the What's On Saudi Arabia Awards 2024

Last week, we announced the return of the What's On Saudi Arabia Awards in September 2024. This year's celebration of Saudi Arabia's thriving hospitality and entertainment scene will see winners named across 36 categories.

And we're excited to say that registrations are now open. So if you are a F&B professional, or have a restaurant that you want to register, we encourage you to register now via whatson.saudiawards.com.

What's On Saudi Arabia Awards 2024: The process

Registrations are now open, and each entry costs USD300.

What makes these awards special is that they're voted for by the public, so those that decide the winners have the final say. So if you want your venue to be in the best of the best, you'll need to register ASAP.

Once the votes are in, we will release the country's top local and international gastronomy and entertainment talents to leading awards night at JW Marriott Hotel Riyadh on Tuesday September 17, 2024. We'll have the winners of these coveted trophies will be announced.

The categories

This year, the awards have been extended to an impressive 36 categories, expanding to include new venues and experiences in Riyadh, and encompassing restaurants, entertainment and shops and categories across the wider Kingdom, a testament to the accelerated growth in Saudi, GCC, and Eastern Presence.

Of the 36 categories, 32 are decided solely by public vote. But we couldn't let you have all of the fun. Completing the awards categories are a trio of coveted Editor's Choice awards, which will be handed by the editorial team. These are Honorary Restaurant of the Year, Newcomer of the Year and Restaurant of the Year.

You can view the full list of categories here <https://whatson.saudiawards.com>.

The What's On Saudi Arabia Awards returns for 2024

At a fabulous awards night in September 2023, 350 leading lights of the hospitality, leisure and entertainment scene gathered at JW Marriott Riyadh for the inaugural What's On Saudi Arabia Awards. On the night, we crowned Riyadh's finest places to eat, the greatest concepts from the last 12 months, the most innovative and creative, the most exciting and the most exciting. And we'll be back in 2024.

Taking place once again at JW Marriott Riyadh, the glittering gala will be held on Tuesday September 17, with registrations for all categories set to open on Monday April 21. What makes these awards special is that they're voted for by the public. That night, the winners of the What's On Saudi Arabia Awards will be announced. Those that frequent them do it day after day and get the best of the best.

If you're new to the awards, or just need a friendly reminder, we're bringing you a complete guide to the formalities. Plus, along with 1150+ ideas on what to do in Saudi.

The process

Registrations will open from Monday April 21, so if you are a F&B professional, or have a restaurant that you want to register, we encourage you to register now. And the voting period, you'll be able to register in the category or categories most suited to your venue or outlet via whatson.saudiawards.com.

Voting will then open from June 1 and close at the end of July. So if you want your venue to be in the best of the best, you'll need to register ASAP.

Once the votes are in, we will release the country's top local and international gastronomy and entertainment talents to leading awards night at JW Marriott Hotel Riyadh on Tuesday September 17, 2024. We'll have the winners of these coveted trophies will be announced.
